

In 1946 Roy McDaniel sold this property to Dennis and Martha Coers with the provision that a large cottonwood tree remain his for life. It still stands near the three streams which Martha named, "The Golden Triangle" because it reminded her of the spot in Pittsburgh where the Allegheny and the Monongahela form the Ohio River.

The fifty-acre farm includes a classified forest which produces many varieties of hardwood veneer and serves as a wildlife habitat. It may not be pastured or hunted; however, it may be hiked and enjoyed.

The Fallis Family invites you to stroll the trails, to enjoy the vistas and streams, the flora and the fauna, and the changing seasons.

The day was not wholly profane in which we have given heed to some natural object.

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Let us spend one day as deliberately as nature.

Henry David Thoreau

Two roads diverged in a wood, and I – I took the one less traveled by and that has made all the difference.

Robert Frost

1241 S. 775E
Waldron, IN 46182
Tom Fallis (317) 392-4814
councilguy@lightbound.com
Ken Fallis (317) 579-0057
symbiosiswoods@yahoo.com

CONSERVATION EDUCATION
RECREATION INSPIRATION !

Many varieties of plants and animals helping one another by living in harmony*

